Paracelsus BioFilm & Gut Cleanse

The Biotope in our gut!

Trillions of microbes populate our intestines, and we have evolved a profound interdependence with them. We have 10 times more bacteria than cells in our body. It could be said that we are externally controlled, since our microbes have more DNA than our cells. Their enzymes calibrate our immune system, process our food, provide us with crucial nutrients we can't make for ourselves, and dispose of pollutants.

This means that a healthy balance of microbes is crucial to our overall health. However, it is often the case that parasites and pathogens sneak in and benefit from this internal ecosystem to our detriment. They protect themselves in a biofilm which allows them to exist undetected for many years.

Paracelsus BioFilm & Gut Cleanse to regain immune strength and resilience:

The intestinal tract is often depicted as the root of the tree of life because it determines health and disease, strength and resilience. One of the key roles of our digestive tract is the regulation of the immune system. That's why Biological Medicine is so focused on diagnosis of its health and therapies to heal it. The internal regulatory forces can only be revived when the intestinal mucosa, freed from the biofilm and its pathogenic inhabitants, is able to perform its complex tasks optimally again. Thanks to the very specific herbal fibers included in the gut cleanse drink, the nutritional guidelines and therapies, the gut cleanse has a long-lasting effect on your overall health.

Paracelsus BioFilm & Gut Cleanse to improve mental vitality:

Emotions and mental performance can be positively influenced by restoring intestinal health with the elimination of the biofilm. The nerve pathways of the gut-brain axis are reactivated and nutrient absorption is optimized. In addition, by eliminating parasites, their harmful excretions no longer toxify the body, which in many cases are responsible for emotional fluctuations, concentration disorders and low resilience in everyday life. Depression, brain fog and stress syndromes usually improve within a short time.

→ The Paracelsus BioFilm colon cleanse is supervised by a physician and, if necessary, adapted to individual needs. The excretion of the biofilm can usually be observed during the 4-day fasting period.

Who benefits from the Paracelsus BioFilm & Gut Cleanse?

This intensive intestinal cleanse is especially beneficial for people with chronic diseases, especially gastrointestinal problems, asthma, migraines, allergies, intolerances, candida, parasitic diseases, autoimmune disease and general immune deficiency and susceptibility to infections. Even teenagers and young adults, with chronic diseases, can benefit from the cleanse.

The program includes:

- 2 Days Paracelsus Elimination diet followed by 4 fasting days. The elimination diet serves as a preparation diet and on the following 4 fasting days no food will be served. Instead, you will receive a power shake 3 times a day as well as an intestinal cleanse drink. The power shake supplies your body with valuable nutrients that provide strength and energy. The intestinal cleanse drink will cause the intestinal biofilm to swell and subsequently detach from the intestinal wall.
- Parasite treatment:
After the 4 days of fasting, the parasites are removed from the body with parasite drops and other detoxification treatments, depending on individual need. In this context, nutrition is very important (see below: Nutritional therapy).
- Intestinal therapies:
 - 2 Colon-hydrotherapy sessions including intestinal inoculation of bacteria to boost the intestinal flora. The autonomic nervous system is stimulated.
 - Interstitial Massage and Compress to support detoxification and the autonomic nervous system.
- Individualized nutritional counseling is especially important for intestinal restoration.
- Medical care and individual therapies:
There is no better situation than to perform an intensive intestinal cleansing combined with an intestinal revamp in a professional environment and with the guidance of a medical doctor. Health is improved from the root of the problem. Paracelsus Clinic has all the necessary diagnostic and therapeutic instruments of Biological Medicine at its disposal so that each individual can derive the greatest benefit from the intestinal cleanse.

Additional individual therapies offered on request or prescription (extra cost):

- Laboratory tests and individual treatments.
- Individualized supplemental therapy.
- Paracelsus Pharmacy Products
